Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Balamurugan et al. (US 6,320,795 B1, “Balamurugan”, hereinafter).

Regarding claim 14, Balamurugan discloses, in Figs. 1 and 2, a system for driving a data signal, comprising:

a data bus (14);

a charging circuit (16) coupled to the data bus, wherein the charging circuit is configured to charge the data bus to a first voltage level (18); and a pull-down circuit (30, 32 in Fig. 1; 42 in Fig. 2) coupled to the data bus, wherein the pull-down circuit is configured to pull the data bus to a second voltage level (36).

Regarding claim 15, Balamurugan discloses, in Fig. 1 a keeper circuit (24) coupled to the data bus, wherein the keeper circuit is configured to maintain the data bus at the first voltage level after the data bus has been charged.

Regarding claim 16, Balamurugan discloses, in Fig. 2 that the pull-down circuit comprises:

a transistor (42) coupled at one end to the data bus and at the other end to ground;

Art Unit: 2819

logic circuitry (44) coupled to a gate of the transistor, wherein an output signal from the logic circuitry controls the transistor.

Regarding claim 17, Balamurugan discloses, in Fig. 2 that the logic circuitry comprises a first input terminal (48) for receiving an equilibration signal and a second input terminal (50) for receiving a data signal.

Regarding claim 18, Balamurugan discloses, in Fig. 2 that the logic circuitry comprises a NOR gate (44).

Regarding claim 19, Balamurugan discloses, in Fig. 2 that the charging circuit comprises:

a transistor (16) coupled at one end to a power supply voltage source and at the other end to the data bus , wherein the transistor is controlled by an equilibration signal (20).

Regarding claim 20, Balamurugan discloses, in Fig. 1 the keeper circuit comprises:

a transistor (26) coupled at one end to a power supply voltage source and at the other end to the data bus; and logic circuitry (28) coupled to a gate of the transistor, wherein an output signal from the logic circuitry controls the transistor.

Regarding claim 21, Balamurugan discloses, in Fig. 1 the logic circuitry comprises an inverter gate (28).

Method claims 1-2 and 4-13 are essentially the same in scope as apparatus claims 14-21 and are rejected similarly.

Art Unit: 2819

Regarding claim 3, it has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Alvandpour et al. (US 6,388,940 B1) discloses leakage-tolerant circuit and method for large register files.

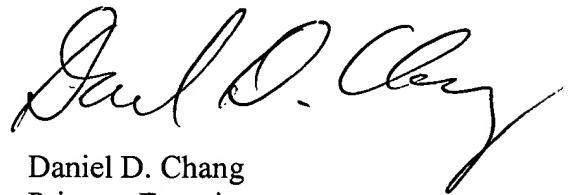

Coppin (US 6,456,116 B1) discloses a dynamic comparator circuit.
